PixSell

Product Catalogue & Sales Order App

PixSell is a product image catalogue and sales ordering app, designed to meet the needs of your reps and agents servicing your retail customers. PixSell will allow the sales person to present up-to-date products and promotions to their customers, without the need to carry around multiple paper-based catalogues.

- ☑ Scroll dynamic catalogue pages driven by flexible search options – reps can tailor the presentation for each customer
- ☑ Product image browsing with stock details and availability – only order what is in stock and easily cross-sell related products

- ☑ Order taking with customer pricing and discounts applied – customers can see exactly what they have bought and what it will cost them
- ☑ Detailed customer information (record card, order history, open items) – allowing reps to maximise the potential of every sales call
- ☑ ERP back office integration – providing a seamless flow of customer, product and sales order data between reps and head office
- ☑ Sales reporting and analysis – keep track of your field and exhibition sales performance

PixSell is designed for the Apple iPad.

Our products and solutions are compatible with all modern ERP systems including:

“The MiniSell system has given us much more clarity in our sales and sales reports, the reps are finding the whole order taking process far easier and we are having great success with it.”

Justin Carter
Sales Manager

“We spend less time re-checking orders... when picked orders are returned to the MiniPick Server we can also see if and why items weren't picked. Consequently communication within the warehouse has improved.”

Chris McLelland
Data & Software Administrator
